

Ernie Martinez

Per.7,8

11-28-16

Social Media has always been a big Idea and something that everyone has used for a long time. The articles to r(An Article called “Teenage Social Media Butterflies” By Melissa Healy(Article A),an article written by Hillary Scott called Anti Social Networking(Article B)And Infographic research about social media statistics by some college students(Article C).Social media like Facebook, Twitter, Snapchat etc..... have taken over about 2 billion people!Social media's help out the world and make communication through social media better by longer-range socializing, Convenient communication, and help you with socializing skills.

To start off, social media can create long-range communication. Most people had to wait a whole year to talk again and see their family members,But now it's easier to communicate these days. As the College students stated ,“A report by the research of the U.S teens text messages regularly, $\frac{1}{3}$ would rather text a friend than face to face”(Resource C).I know Individuals might be like doesn't this also mean that Social media is bad and doesn't help but this can mean that friends can communicate from far and not have to leave their house and just talk in person when they're at there house.Article C Claimed that “Results of the survey indicate the importance of social media use of communication tools to friends and family”(Resource C). This shows people communicate with family from far away or just talk to them. Also it's really good to talk to family members and just say how's it been or what's been going on. All of this research can prove that social media has really helped with longer range communication.

Equally as important to the first reason is Faster communication. Faster communication has always been a thing that people wanted and now we do. As some college students said “Facebook is used primarily by students to maintain relationships from close or far” (Resource C). This really makes people have faster communication and to not break relationships and to contact people quickly. As stated in Article C “New developments in the technological world have made the internet more innovative” (Resource C). This means it made it faster, new and reliable. The internet and websites like Facebook have made it faster to communicate all over the world. This can be amazing in many situations in life like a couple or friends or even projects due that you can go in person.

Last but not least, most resources I read were saying that social media is bad for kids and doesn't make people socialize. Hilary Stout confirmed “Some researchers believe that the impersonal nature of texting and online communication may make it easier for shy kids to connect with others”. This backs up the Facebook makes teenagers or kids socialize if they are shy and anyway. Kids mostly feel protected or anonymous and social media sites or at least less nervous. Hilary Stout also claims “Social Media helps with anxiety”. Anxiety is like the feeling of being nervous in some way. Social media sites really make kids feel less anxious and more confident. This really proves how social media affects social skills.

In conclusion social media isn't all that bad. Social media really help with socializing skills this is really very important because it helps people communicate and be better in life in a way. Social media can also be helpful and make people communicate from further distances, communicate faster, and help you with your socializing skills. and that's how the world became a better place with a little thing called social media.